Why am I getting this?

- Your child has just created a temporary account for Tinkercad - a FREE, easy to use, design app from Autodesk that helps children of all ages learn about 3D design, 3D printing, electronics, and programming.
- We take your child's privacy very seriously and work hard to keep the Tinkercad Community safe. In some countries we must get adult permission from a parent or a teacher before allowing children to join Tinkercad. Your child provided us with your email to get your approval. Learn more about Autodesk's privacy practices for children (/childrens-privacy).

Once you give your approval:

- You will be the moderator of your child's account. That means you will be able to see their designs and other activity, and you can help reset their password.
- Your child's account will no longer be temporary. They will be able to create and share projects, upload images, collaborate with other Tinkercad users, and contact customer service. Your child may be able to share or publicly disclose personal information while using Tinkercad, but you will have the ability to moderate (e.g. delete) content that your child creates.
- When your child reaches the minimum (<https://www.autodesk.com/company/terms-of-use/en/special-terms#minimum-age>) age, your moderation will automatically end. We will request that your child provide an email to use with their account.
